

Studio 401

David Addison Small has been painting, etching and sculpting at the Boston Center for The Arts for 23 years. His subject matter is fat, bearded, patriarchal Angels who, though winged, have forgotten their divine origins and now partake of earth's bounty.

Visit David Addison Small's website