

Lavender

Curated by Audrey Harrer

The Mills Gallery

May 2019

How can the purest sensory memories influence one's future? Explore this idea in Lavender—a multi-sensory musical performance that explores how early experiences with lavender's color and fragrance shaped trajectories and influenced decisions. The performance will include components of lavender through song, spoken-word, fragrance, simple projections, customized refreshments and movement.

Audrey Harrer is an alt-chamber composer/vocalist/harpist. She collaborates with chamber groups, experiments with music technologists, and works in music education. She finds clever ways to connect lyric and gesture and is particularly interested in the space where music and drama collide.
