Film Programming & producers of the Roxbury International Film Festival. Also teach workshops on screenwriting.

The Executive Director of The Color of Film Collaborative is a Boston native whose family has been in Roxbury for four generations. The backgrounds of those involved with TOCF run the gambit from actor training to film schools to public relations and marketing.

The Color of Film Collaborative is an organization that supports filmmakers and writers who are creating more diverse images of people of color across the globe.

We are currently gearing up for film screenings throughout the 2015 and 2016 year as well as beginning to pull together the 2016 Roxbury International Film Festival that takes place June 21st to June 30th, 2016. We will screen over 50 films, hold workshops and celebrate.
