

ArtBridge presents Eddie Bowers at Roosters Men's Grooming Center

Boston Center for the Arts and Roosters Men's Grooming Center partner together once again with ArtBridge, the BCA's curatorial program that reinforces community ties. The current ArtBridge exhibition at Roosters presents work by artist Eddie Bowers, a South End artist for over 20 years.

The exhibition, curated by Zelana Davis, Visual Arts Manager at the BCA, is on view through May 31, 2016.

Tyson White, owner of Roosters at 518 Tremont St., was inspired to forge a relationship with the Boston arts incubator after a fundraising event that featured activities from the BCA's multiple artistic platforms in theater, dance and visual arts. White contacted the BCA and was introduced to ArtBridge, an initiative that introduces BCA-affiliated artists to local businesses.

Since the first installment of ArtBridge at Roosters, White and the BCA have grown in strength in their partnership and desire to enliven the South End.

About ArtBridge

BCA/ArtBridge is designed to promote the work of both current and alumni BCA artists from the BCA's Artist Studios Building (ASB) and Mills Gallery by placing their work in local business establishments for exhibition.

About Eddie Bowers

Eddie Bowers has been a studio artist of the ASB for over 20 years. For two years, Bowers served as Co-chair of the Board of Directors for United South End Artists, a key component in the proliferation of arts in the South End. Bowers has exhibited across Boston, with her latest exhibition in July 2015 at Boston City Hall. Bowers' work is inspired by the complexities of nature; she transforms natural colors and organic shapes into a menagerie of intermingling layers. With a depth of color and abstraction, Bowers work is a wonderful complement to the timeless interior of Roosters' gallery space.

Eddie Bowers' work can be viewed during Roosters' regular business hours.

ArtBridge presents Eddie Bowers Curated by Zelana Davis

Roosters Men's Grooming Center
518 Tremont Street
On view through May 31, 2016

Roosters' Hours

Monday – Friday | 9:00 am – 7 pm

Saturday | 8:00 am – 5:00 pm

Sunday | 12 pm – 5:00 pm